HOUSEWIVES

EXHIBITS

Cooking, Canning, and Other Woman's Work to be Exhibited.

Farmers' Week at Agricultural College Kentucky University.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 14.—One of the most attractive features of Farmers' week at the Agricultural College of State University in January will be the sessions on home economics, which will be held from 10:30 a. m. until 3 p. m. at the Experiment Station building each day of the week. The department of home economics of the university has been doing evangelistic work among the housekeepers of the State through lectures and a distribution of literature, and it is expected that the lectures and demonstrations during Farmers' week will be of much interest and advantage to the housewives of the State. An additional attraction will be offered in a varied and extensive exhibition of cooking, arrangements of menus and other housewifely work, as well as of sewing, dressmaking, canning and similar arts of the home to which school children of the State will contribute.

Prizes will be given for the best specimens in each exhibit and the display will be attractive not only to housekeepers, but to all persons who may visit the exhibition. Daily addresses will be made by Misses Mary E. Sweeney, Ruby Buckman and Aubyn Chinn, of the department of home economics of the university.

"ROUND THE ROUNDHOUSE"

We have a new boss 'Round the Round House, I mean, he is around there some times.

And he is mighty hard for us to please, no wonder his feet commence to spread at his knees. Fattie Camel sure had some good luck, he had a head in and he said he was tickled to death, it was not a double-header he hit.

Lawrence Turner got promoted.

We, the L. & N. are going to have our autos overhauled so we can run it with alchaul.

We are having some painting done at Round House, the new Foreman cannot stand any dirt, he came from the country.

Slue Foot Tom does not dance at all, but would if he could turn his feet in the Dance Hall.

WHERE RED CROSS SEALS ARE SOLD.

With the exception of Florida and Nevada, Red Cross Seals are on sale in one or more cities of every State in the Union, and also in Hawaii and the Canal Zone. In most of the States the sale has been organized in every city, village and hamlet. Every conceivable method of conveyance is being employed in shipping the seals from the various State headquarters to local agents, from the ox-team in Alabama and Mississippi, and the pack-burro in Colorado, to the express train and the automobile in New York. These holiday seals are even being sold in mountain hamlets, where the snow will prevent the receipt of returns for months after the first of the year.

Red Cross Seals are on sale now at various Earlington Stores.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY

The Well Known Firm of Cansler & Maloney Narrowly Escapes Loss

VIGILANCE OF POLICE THWART THIEVES

A bold attempt was made Tuesday morning to rob the store of Cansler & Maloney, of this city. Night chief Hamby and watchman Clark noticed two colored men loafing around the freight depot in a suspicious manner about one o'clock, and ran them away. A little after four o'clock when Mr. Clark started home he noticed the front door of Cansler & Maloney's store had been broken in. He immediately called for night chief Hamby and telephoned Messrs Cansler and Maloney, all of whom were soon on the spot. The thieves had taken possession of a new spit case and filled with valuable goods and left it down stairs. One of them was upstairs and bearing the men enter, jumped from the second story window and ran. Mr. Hamby fired four times and thinks likely he hit his man. Mr. Clark also shot at the fleeing Negro four times. The thieves took nothing from the store and there is no clue as to their identity. It is supposed the same parties broke into the freight depot earlier in the night.

Beautiful Show Windows

There are quite a number of beautiful show window displays in Earlington and Madisonville this week and all of them are attractive, but the windows in the St. Bernard drug store certainly take the remnant of calico from off the shrubbery for artistic design and consummate taste. One of these windows represent a snow scene which should be appropriate for this season, and the other contains a carefully selected variety of useful articles suitable for holiday gifts.

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY

Father McParland, we regret very much to say, has taken offense at The Bee because of reference made by Ida Clyde Clarke, editor of the Southern Missionary News Bureau, to certain alleged conditions in Porto Rico in 1898, in the special service furnished The Bee by that bureau, published last week.

Father McParland has written the editor of The Bee a letter and requests its publication in this issue. In order that the matter may be clear to all our readers who may be interested, we reproduce the item which has offended Father McParland:

Beautiful Porto Rico

"Porto Rico, one of the most charming of the islands of the western tropics, is almost a foreign mission field in the home land. There are 1,200,000 inhabitants in Porto Rico, the large majority of whom live in rural districts and know little or nothing of Christ's real redemptive work.

"Until fourteen years ago the doors of this beautiful island were closed except to Spain and the Roman Catholic church. Some one has said that her exclusiveness was almost equal to that of ancient Judaism; no independence of religious liberty was allowed. But the door was opened in 1898, when the island passed into the hands of the United States government, and the people seemed to be waiting for Protestant Christianity."

Father McParland's letter
reads as follows:

Earlington, Ky., Dec. 15th 1913.
Editor of The Bee:-
Dear Sir:-

In the issue of The Bee of Tuesday, Dec. 9th., you permitted false statements to be made in regard to the Religious condition in Porto Rico, when taken under the Flag of the United States.

The party who wrote the article showed very plainly her ignorance of history also the narrow spirit of bigotry. Bigotry and ignorance go hand in hand, the one cannot be separated from the other.

It looks very much like bigotry on the part of The Bee, or those in charge of it; by it you have offered an insult to the Catholic people, and to your Catholic subscribers. They and I their Pastor, demand an immediate apology, otherwise a prompt withdrawal of subscriptions. Please insert the above and under it, and in a prominent place in the next issue of The Bee, the enclosed Sermon by Cardinal Gibbons, on Civil and Religious Liberty, and Union of Church and State.

Yours truly,

Rev. J. P. McParland.

If there be a controversy
it is between Father Mc-Parland and Miss Clark, editor of the Southern Missionary News Bureau. The Bee has no time nor taste for religious controversy.

The editor of the Bee has always believed in and stood for the broadest religious liberty, and always has and will ever detest religious intolerance and bigotry, if such intolerance or bigotry appear within the walls or in the congregation of the church to which he may belong or elsewhere.

Pursuing this principle and our practice of broad religious liberty it will give us pleasure to publish in full in our next issue the sermon of Cardinal Gibbons on "Civil and Religious Liberty, and Union of Church and State." As this editorial is written we have not read this sermon and do not know what it contains, but Cardinal Gibbons is one of the greatest minds the age or his church has produced and what he writes and what he says is worthy a careful hearing.

PAPER READ BY MR. ALFORD BEFORE KY. MINING INSTITUTE.

Inspector Norwood, Quoted in Warning
Against Dust 22 Years ago.

In its report of the meeting of the Kentucky Mining Institute, held last week at Lexington.
The Lexington Herald says of the paper read by one of our townsman:

"Problems Encountered in Mining Coals in the Western Coal Fields of Kentucky" was discussed in a paper by Newell G. Alford, Assistant Engineer of the St. Bernard Mining Company, Earlington, Kentucky.
The most important problems in the Western Kentucky field discussed in this paper were dealt with in the following order;
Robbing Pillars, Air Passing Through Old Works, Ignition of
No. 11 Coal in Old Workings,
Prevention and Oxidation, Coal Dust, Shooting Off the Solid, Fatalities, Roof, Wastes.

The following paragraph is taken from Mr. Alford's paper:

"Because of the dangers attending the solid shooting of coal, Chief Inspector Norwood has repeatedly discouraged this practice. Twenty-two years ago, or to be more exact, in his report of 1891, Prof. Norwood Comments in part as follows:
"Shooting off the solid is less common now than was the case a few years ago, when the prevalence, of this performance invited warning against it from this office. Coal dust is now (speaking of 1891) generally admitted, by those who have be-studied the question, to be almost as dangerous as fire damp.
An explosion may occur in any dust mine and the probability of one exists where shooting off the solid is practiced."

"This bit of past history is given by way of indicating the commendable manner in which Kentucky's mine inspection department has espoused the adoption of safe and sane mining methods, thus occupying the conspicuous place among the highly efficient inspection departments of the leading coal-producing States. Thus almost two decades prior to the scientific investigation and experiments conducted to prove that coal dust was an explosive agent
the Chief Inspector of Kentucky, together with other advanced thinkers, promulgated the dangers attendant upon the presence of coal dust in our mines."

"SAFETY FIRST"

Work of Mine Rescue
Has Reached Stage
of Great Effectiveness.

BRAVERY OF MINES
AND RESCUE TEAMS
EULOGIZED

Dr. Holmes of The Bureau of Mines Pays
Fine Tribute

Washington, Dec. 14.—From the increasing number of reports being received by the United States Bureau of Mines, of miners rescued from death in accidents, it is becoming apparent to the officials that the general
"Safety First" movement, inaugurated by the Bureau, has already reached a stage of great effectiveness; Hundreds of mines throughout the country, through the precept and urging of the Bureau have established rescue and first-aid crews and it is from these crews of volunteer heroes that the Bureau is almost weekly hearing of lives saved. Most of the accidents involve but a few men and are not chronicled in the newspapers, yet in every instance the reports breathe of the rarest sort of heroism upon the part of the rescue crews.

"Since the Bureau of Mines was created," said Dr. Joseph A.
Holmes, director of the Bureau of Mines today, in speaking of this part of the work "our rescue men have trained 5,000 miners in the use of the modern rescue apparatus and 4,000 miners in the principles of first-aid-to-the-injured. These constitute an army greater than many legions that won their triumphs upon the field of battle, for these men do not destroy life, they save life.
They are the soldiers of humanity, the minute men of peace."

"All through the year these men have been answering the emergency call of the mines, in many instances rushing into the very jaws of death, in the faint hope of bringing back a father to his family or a young man to his mother. Many lives have been saved and a number of rescuers have had their names added to the long row of martyrs. The saddest incident of the year was when two young men gave up their lives at the Dawson, New Mexico disaster, some time ago, while endeavoring to rescue the entombed men. Their sacrifice was purely a voluntary matter,
like the acts of any other rescuer.
They died like the courageous men they were and there were other rescuers, equally as courageous, ready and waiting to take their places in the ranks."

"The bravery of the mines has never been questioned. There has never been a time when more volunteers than needed did not respond. There has always been a rescuer to step into the vacant place in the ranks. And when the rescuer goes to his death, he is not spurred on by martial music, the roll of drums, the crack of rifle fire, like the soldier in war. There are no volleys of cheers to nerve him in the ordeal. His is the grim, silent, desperate task in the darkness of the bowels of the earth. His incentive is the consciousness that he is performing the highest duty that is possible for a fellow man. And unlike the battlefield, the world thrills for a day over the heroism and the sacrifice of the hero and then forgets him. There are no battle anniversaries to quicken the memory of the world as to his feats, no camp-fires of the veteran survivors to live anew the valor of the dead hero."

"The world seems to give more recognition to the hero that dies in plain view of the people than to the man who gives up his life in the darkness of the earth. A swimmer who jumps into a river

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Pall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Tend of Negro Claims He Has Bur Relic.

Pittsburg, — William St. Paul Jasper an aged negro temporarily detained in the office of the county jail here while friends adjusted a complaint against him, today told Warden Edward Louis, that a wonderful diamond watch fob he carried had once been the property of Aaron Burr. His ancestor, said Jasper, had been Burr's personal servant,
and just before Burr faced Alexander Hamilton in their historic duel he gave the servant the jewel, telling him to keep it. He did, passing it down to his descendants, and it finally came to Jasper, who is a veteran of the civil war and on the pension roll for wounds received in battle.

Making All Happy.

"What I deem an appropriate present is a book, and that I must choose for myself," writes a correspondent of the London Chronicle. "To leave the selection to friends would be a catastrophe. Every year, therefore, on behalf of those generously minded individuals who have kindly thoughts toward me, I buy books for myself, tell them, and get the money refunded. In the measure of monetary value remember me, I likewise remember them—in any article of their own choosing. And we are all happy."

Argument.

A good cause need not be patronized by passion, but can sustain itself upon a temperate dispute.—Sir Thomas Browne.

Took Mother Literally.

Marian pointed to the glass or cup when she wished a drink, uttering inarticulate sounds intended to convey her desire. She was old enough to talk some, but she had never been taught to ask for a drink. Mother said to her: "When you want a drink, Marian, you say, 'Mamma, or papa, or Hazel, or Mildred, drink.'" The next time Marian wished a drink she pointed to the cup and said: "Mamma, papa, Hazel, Mildred, drink—dink-dink-dink!"

California Woman Seriously Alarmed

"A short time ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and caused me a great deal of annoyance. I would have had coughing spells and my lungs were so sore and inflamed I began to be seriously alarmed. A friend recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, saying she had used it for years. I bought a bottle and it relieved my cough the first night, and in a week I was rid of the cold and soreness of my lungs," writes Miss Marie Gerber, Sawtelle, Cal. For sale by All Dealers.

Mad No Time.

Miss Specs—"Charles, did you ever allow your mind to pierce the secrets of the universe, to reason that this dull, cold world is but the sepulchre of ages past, that man in all his glory is but the soil we tread, which every breeze wafts in an overshifting mass, to be found and lost in an infinity of particles—the dust of centuries, reunited and dissolved as long as time shall endure?" Charles—"No, I can't say I have. You see, I've had to earn my own living."—Stray Stories.

"Symptoms."

Occasionally an afflicted lady tells why she left her husband. For the married man, of some introspection and conscience, the feeling produced by the recital is something like the feeling one used to have in reading the patent medicine list of "symptoms." He used to feel that he had "earned" and deserved the treatment.

A Friend To The Working Man

Five years ago I was so troubled with kidney trouble and inflammation of the bladder that I had to leave working my farm. Life looked dark to me until I heard of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root through a cured friend. I tried a bottle and began to feel better at once. After using five or six bottles I felt fine and have continued to work as I had before my affliction.

I want to state that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is a kidney medicine that will cure and I owe my good work during the past five or six years to it.

Yours very truly,

True to Nature.

The tots in a primary class in sense-training were imitating anything they choose. When it was Hazel's turn, she stepped into the center of the room and wriggled her body from side to side. No one could guess what she was impersonating, so she was asked to explain. "Why," she said, "I was a little dog wagging its tail."

Fit His Case Exactly

"When father was sick about six years ago he read an advertisement of Chamberlain's Tablets in the papers that fit his case exactly," writes Miss Margaret Campbell, of Ft. Smith, Ark. "He purchased a box of them and he has not been sick since. My sister had stomach trouble and was also benefited by them." For sale by All Dealers.

For a Rubber Plant.

When the leaves turn yellow and fall off the plant is dying. Feed it a tablespoonful of olive oil every two weeks. Also wash the plant once a week with warm soapuds, letting the warm suds moisten the earth thoroughly. Sprinkle every other day. This same treatment should be used on ferns.

Asbestos.

Asbestos is a mineral of a fine fibrous character, the fibers being easily separated, elastic, flexible, and of a whitish-gray color. It is composed chiefly of silica, lime, magnesia, and oxide of iron. The ancients converted it into a kind of cloth, in which they wrapped the bodies of their dead, while preparing them for the funeral pile; the cloth being indestructible by fire, enabled them to preserve the ashes. Asbestos is found more abundantly in Corsica than in any other locality.

"House Sisters."

The House-Sisters Association of Berlin was established not long ago to ennoble domestic service and to establish better relations between the employers and the employed. The association has a "Mother House" near the city, where girls are trained for services, situations being found for them when competent. Those in charge of the home keep in touch with the girls after they have gone out into the world to make their own way.

Crossing the Bridge.

The trouble about crossing the bridge before you come to it is that you will have to cross it just the same when you get there.

Worried Here.

A critic of Wells' novel, "Marriage," finds in the confounding of the hero "the desire to have it all ways: to possess a woman who shall have all the charm and the caprice of the eternal feminine; who shall, by the grossness of her desires and the pettiness of conversation, give him an agreeable sense of superiority, and yet shall, to order, acquire deep spiritual insight when her husband feels he needs it."

How to Bankrupt The Doctors

A prominent New York physician says: "If it were not for the thin stockings and thin soled shoes worn by women the doctors would probably be bankrupt." When you contract a cold do not wait for it to develop into pneumonia but treat it at once. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is intended especially for coughs and colds, and has won a wide reputation by its cures of these diseases. It is most effective and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by All Dealers.

Practical Ventilating Hint.

The house should be ventilated in winter as well as in summer if the family is to be kept in good health. Bedrooms, especially, should be provided with a free circulation of fresh air. One way to get fresh air in a bedroom without having a draft is to tack strips of cheesecloth across the top and the bottom of the window so that when it is opened in both places the fresh air will enter the room and yet, should there be a strong wind, its force will be broken by the cloth.

Heartburn is a symptom of indigestion. Take a dose of HERBINE in such cases. The pain disappears instantly. The bowels operate speedily and you feel fine, vigorous and cheerful. Price 50c. Sold by St. Bernard Drug Store.

Watering Hanging Plants.

The difficulty in watering hanging plants is that the water drips on to the floor. If a very small funnel is inserted in the soil, hidden by the foliage, and the water poured in this, it will gradually seep into the soil without dripping on the floor.

Some Good May Be Done.

I told something to a friend once and he replied, "Gee do you want a fellow to be perfect?" I said, "Yes but I never expect to see one, but there's lots of rottenness which can be cut out of the efforts of all of us." —Exchange.

Cures Old Sores, Other Remedies Won't Cure. The worst cases, no matter how long standing, are cured by the wonderful, old reliable Dr. Porter's Antiseptic Healing Oil. It relieves Pain and Heals at the same time. 25c, 50c, $1.00

Worth Knowing.

Never throw away pieces of lemon after they have been squeezed with the lemon squeezer, for they come in handy for removing stains from the hands and elsewhere. Dipped into salt they will scour copper kettles nicely and remove stains from brasswork. Lemon like this will take stains, dirt and odor from pans and kettles as nothing else will. The odors of fish and onions can thus be easily removed.

Swelling of the flesh caused by inflammation, cold, fractures of the bone, toothache, neuralgia or rheumatism can be relieved by applying BALLARD'S SNOW-LINIMENT. It should be well rubbed in over the part affected. Its great healing and penetrating power eases the pain, reduces swelling and restores natural conditions. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by St. Bernard Drug Store.

Victorian Jest.

The diversions of the court included an anticipation of the spelling bee. When a lady of the court spelled "thermometer" with an "a" Melbourne judiciously observed: "It is a very good way to spell it, but not the way." —London Athenaeum.

Dickens Most Widely Known.

If it be true to say of any author that everybody has read him, that author is Dickens. He is more of a national institution today than Shakespeare, whose works, praised and perverted, explained and darkened, by an amazing mass of commentators today, are not, in our experience, really known to the average reader.—London Athenaeum.

Deep-seated-coughs that resist ordinary remedies require both external and internal treatment. If you buy a dollar bottle of BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP you get the two remedies you need for the price of one. There is a HERRICK'S RED PEPPER POROUS PLASTER for the chest free with each bottle. Sold by St. Bernard Drug Store.

Tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis or consumption is rare in childhood; increases rapidly after the age of fifteen, and is most common between the ages of twenty-five and thirty. Those who escape it till the latter age are less and less prone to it as they advance in years.

Children take BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP willingly because it tastes nice. There isn't a better remedy anywhere for children's coughs, hoarseness and bronchitis. It's a good medicine and easy to take. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by St. Bernard Drug Store.

Bachelor's Savage Comment.

A wealthy gentleman, who owns a country seat, on one occasion nearly lost his mother-in-law, who fell into a river which flows through his estate. He announced the narrow escape to his friends, expecting their congratulations. One of them—an old bachelor—wrote as follows: "I always told you that river was too shallow."

Rare "breeches" Bible.

A "breeches" Bible, dated 1601, was recently bequeathed by Dr. William F. G. Black of Dublin to his brother, the Rev. Gibson J. H. M. Black. This is the translation in which Adam and Eve are described as making themselves "breeches" of figleaves. The authorized version uses the word "aprons."

For a Rubber Plant.

CHRISTMAS AND THE DARKEST DAY

By JOHN E. DOLSEN

Copyright, 1913, by American Press Association

EVERY day the sun grows colder,
Riding lower through its arc.
Will it, as the year grows older,
Leave us always in the dark?

But we know that science teaches
'Twill begin its upward climb
When its lowest point it reaches,
At the solstice—Christmas time.

Earth to all her utmost regions
Shuddered 'neath the march of Rome,
Whose triumphant, pagan legions
Dragged their loot and captives home.

Must her rule go on, unceasing?
Would her armaments be hurled,
With an insolence increasing,
'Gainst a servile, helpless world?

Were Rome's gods alone undying?
And must other nations crook
To her Caesar, deifying
Him with suppliant word and look?

When it seemed her ruthless power
Nothing on the earth could stem,
In that saddest, darkest hour
Christ was born at Bethlehem.

A RUNAWAY'S JOLLY CHRISTMAS

JIMMY was very, very lonely, so lonely that he almost cried. A big boy of seven and a schoolboy as well can't really, truly cry. Jimmy did have a good reason for crying. Mamma, the best and dearest of all good, dear mamma, had gone away never to come back. Papa was almost always at his office. Jimmy heard Hannah, the nurse, calling.

"Jimmy, oh, Jimmy! Just come and see what papa has sent up from the stores. It's just fine, I can tell you."

Jimmy jumped up and ran to the kitchen. On the kitchen table lay a huge turkey, "with loads o' fixins," cook said; a great pile of red cranberries, crisp, curly celery, raisins, nuts and several big boxes.

"Will papa be home for dinner? I haven't seen him in ever so long, and I don't want dinner without papa," asked Jimmy.

"I'll tell you. We'll phone to papa and ask him specially to come to our Christmas party tomorrow and to dinner tomorrow night," nurse suggested.

"Can I really, truly phone, Hannah?" "Yes, indeed, and I'll show you how," and Hannah led the way to the room where the telephone was.

Jimmy had to climb on a stool, he was so little, but he didn't mind a bit. Then nurse told him just what to say to central, and he called papa up. Yes, papa was coming home to dinner and would be out all day tomorrow.

Jimmy was very happy and could scarcely wait till dinner. But when dinner time came papa did not arrive. Nurse came in and told Jimmy that papa could not come home that night.

Jimmy said nothing. He didn't cry, as nurse thought he would. He only looked very sober and went to his room. Then he washed his face and put on his hat and coat. He slipped down the stairs and out the front door. He was going to run away.

When he got out in the lonely country Jimmy began to be afraid. Night came on, and it was bitter cold. He felt tired and sleepy and crawled under a fence and lay down to sleep.

When Jimmy woke up his head was resting in somebody's lap, and somebody had her arms around him.

"Poor little fellow! He's nearly frozen. Jack, carry him up to the house," he heard a motherly voice say.

He looked up. The lady who was holding him wasn't a bit like his pretty JIMMY GOT AN ORANGE IN HIS STOCKING. mother. She had on an old, dingy brown dress and a rough gray shawl, but had a kind face. Jack, a great big boy, carried him to the farmhouse.

Next morning Jimmy was awakened by being vigorously shaken.

"Get up, get up! It's Christmas, and we want to see everything," piped Bill.

They ran downstairs, and the little girls seized the boys' hands and danced around the old grandmother, who was making cake. Then they all kissed her and kissed mother and father. Jimmy got an orange in his stocking, too, like the others, and a nice new tie. But dinner was the best of all.

They all crowded around the table. Jack had shot a wild turkey, and they had celery and mashed potatoes, cranberries, jam and lots of other things, with a big pumpkin pie to crown the whole. They had just begun to eat, Jimmy declaring he "could eat a whole house of turkey," when there was a knock at the door. Jimmy looked up, and there stood papa, with Tim, the very oldest boy.

"Papa, papa!" cried Jimmy, running to him. Papa looked tired and white. He had been so frightened about Jimmy. Tim had found out that morning from Jimmy who his father was and had hastened to Jimmy's house.

"And I'll never miss having Christmas dinner with you again," said papa.

"But, papa, you'll have Christmas dinner with us today," said Jimmy.

"Mrs. Russell says you're to stay." So papa stayed and had dinner with Jimmy after all.

A Thermos Bottle makes an elegant gift. $1.25 and up.

Hopkins County Has a Candidate

Miss Aileen Davis, Wants to Win Five Hundred Dollars in Gold.

Nearly every one in Hopkins county knows Hustling Miss Aileen Davis, who was formerly a valued member of the Bee's staff.

Miss Davis, was forced to give up her work with us on account of ill health, and she has been recuperating now at her home in Madisonville, where she has slowly gained health, color and good spirits.

Recently the Henderson Journal offered to give $5.00 in gold to the most popular young lady in Western Kentucky and also several smaller gold prizes. Some one nominated Miss Davis, and she showed her popularity from the start. She is making a remarkable race and needs only a little help from her scores of Hopkins county friends to bring this $500 in gold home to old Hopkins county.

The Bee gladly publishes this news about Miss Davis, as she is under a considerable handicap by the refusal of another paper to publish even a paid advertisement of the fact that she is a candidate. She is making a game fight considering this handicap and the Bee hopes that the good people of Hopkins county will rally behind Miss Davis, and show the other counties around us what we can do for one of our girls when we really try.

The Journal is now a live Morning paper and is making a great hit all over Western Kentucky. Hopkins county news is to be featured, from this time.

The Sistine Madonna.

SISTINE
MADONNA WITH FRAME
RAPHAEL

REPRESENTING the Virgin, not as a mother, but as the all powerful queen of the heavens, descending from clouds which are themselves composed of thousands of cherubs, Raphael's Madonna di San Sisto, more commonly known as the Sistine Madonna, ranks, by universal consent, as the greatest painting in the world.

In the Virgin's arms there is the Christ Child, whose thoughtful eyes make it appear that he is fully conscious of his destiny as Saviour of the world. On either side St. Sixtus II and St. Catherine kneel in adoration of the queen of the heavens and the Christ Child. St. Catherine is looking down at the two cherubs, which form the base of the picture and which are familiar in popular reproductions. Sixtus II was bishop of Rome from 257 to 258 A. D. and was martyred under Valerian.

Raphael Sanzio or Santi was born in 1483, and this picture, his masterpiece, was completed two years before his death in 1520. Thus the artist was thirty-five years old when the greatest picture of all times was completed. It was his last Madonna, although he painted others prior to this time. The Madonna was the favorite theme of painters in the renaissance era in Italy, starting with Fra Angelico, Fra Bartolommeo and others of the first painters in this period and reaching its height with the completion of the Sistine Madonna by Raphael.

This Madonna was painted as an altar piece for the church of San Sisto at Piacenza. In 1754 it was purchased by the elector Augustus III. from the Benedictine monastery and is now the property of the Royal gallery at Dresden.

Raphael, the artist, died of a fever at Rome when but thirty-seven years old. He was the son of an artist and studied at one time under Perugino. In 1504 Raphael went to live in Florence, where most of his Madonnas were painted. His fame rapidly spread until he was called to Rome to decorate the Vatican. Toward the end of his life, about the time the Sistine Madonna was completed, the artist developed his own style and did his greatest work. Aside from his ability to paint, Raphael was a talented architect.

CHRISTMAS IN BETHLEHEM.

No place in all the world has a greater interest in the Christmas season than Bethlehem. The normal population of the town where Christ was born is less than 5,000, but during Christmas week it becomes a great cosmopolitan center of 50,000 or 60,000 souls, all eager to pay homage to the place hallowed by the Saviour's birth.

In Bethlehem people are brought face to face with the wonderful scenes which are but feebly known to the rest of the world. Here they may see the place where the three wise men of the east halted after their long journey. Here they worship the shrine inclosing the manger in which Christ was born.

They walk along the same road followed by the Virgin Mary in her journey to the ancient city. They see buildings and ruins which the eyes of the infant Christ rested upon. The tiny city, crescent shaped and beautiful to look upon, teems with the realities which the rest of the world celebrates.

IN FRENCH CHURCHES.

Christmas Mass Always Well Attended—Services Are Unique.

In Paris Christmas day is kept as a religious festival, and many who never dream of going to church on any other day in the year make it a point of attending mass on le Jour de Noel, and the blaze of the tapers falls on crowded congregations, men, women and children, kneeling, sitting and standing in the wide area of the Madeleine and Notre Dame.

Midnight mass is held on Christmas eve. A waxen image of the infant Saviour lies upon a little hut of real straw in a cave built of miniature stones. The Virgin mother kneels over the child, and to quote a verse from one of the quaintest old carols:

St. Joseph, too, is near to guard the child, To watch him and protect his mother mild.

Often the three wise men are added, bearing offerings in their hands.

CHRISTMAS IN OTHER LANDS.

Many American children of foreign parentage know something of Christmas customs in at least one European country, having been told by their elders, but for the most part our boys and girls know little of the day except in their own land.

In Spain it is the custom to let out of prison many of the short time prisoners on Christmas eve, also to permit a few of the soldiers to go home on furlough. Only blood relations eat in the house on Christmas eve or Christmas day. It is a general belief that ere midnight on Christmas eve the Virgin comes, bearing a blessing. There is a midnight mass in the churches, and other masses follow.

A few years ago in England it was the custom after the Christmas dinner to pull bonbon crackers and to wear the grotesque caps and masks that came with them. In other ways the celebration is very much as with us.

Good cheer is the rule in Ireland, and holly and ivy are seen on every hand. A midnight mass is celebrated, and masses follow through the night and morning, all of which are largely attended. The religious element predominates. Rich and poor alike have goose for their Christmas dinner. The day following Christmas is devoted to athletics, fun and frolic.

The celebration of Christmas is not general in Japan, yet the Nipponese have a Santa Claus of their own. He is the god Hotei, and he is supposed to give good things to the children not on one day alone, but the year around.

Christmas Fortune Telling.

Bachelors and spinsters in Bohemia desirous of seeing the features of their future matrimonial mate cut a hole in the ice of a river or pond at midnight of Christmas eve and peer into the black water beneath. It is the belief that the face of the one the experimenter is to marry will then become visible as in a mirror. A combination of faith and imagination is necessary to make the spell work successfully.

HOW sweetly rests this winter night
Upon a waiting earth!
Until the light of Christmas light
Shall spread the Christmas birth,
The curtain of the dusk be drawn,
And sleeping hosts afar
Shall wake to read in radiant dawn
The message of the star!

The dawn goes marching from the east
Across a joyous world
To usher in the Christmas feast
'Neath Christmas fronds unfurled.
Now swiftly on the glory spreads,
The miracle fulfilled,
To bless a myriad bended heads
And souls by Christmas thrilled.

Behold it sweep a mighty land,
Long leagues of list'ning snow;
From whitened firs to where midst sand
The poinsettias glow.
On English thatch and tile it lies,
Chateau and hut forlorn,
And frozen steppes and tropic skies
Acclaim the Christmas morn.

No region too remote for this,
Too difficult no tongue,
The Christmas wreath, the Christmas
kiss,
The Christmas music sung.
No heart with grace so incomplete,
No head with age so gray,
No hearth so poor it does not greet
The dawn of Christmas day.

THE CHRIST CHILD'S MANGER.

Pretty but Obsolescent Feature of the Latin Christmas.

All through the Italian and Hungarian quarters in New York city may be found traces of the manger at Christmas time. The Italians call it the "presepio," which means manger; the Hungarians the "Bethlehem."

The manger is an exceedingly old and interesting devotion in the Catholic countries of south Europe. St. Francis of Assisi, who was born in 1182, introduced it into Italy, and it is still the sign of Christmas in south Italy, as much as holly in the windows is the sign of it in New York. It is not many years since a carpenter could not be had for weeks before Christmas in Naples or Rome. They were all busy putting up mangers in the houses of the quality, while the poorer folk were busy fabricating their own.

This quaint old devotion is fading out of the cities of the mainland, but in conservative Sicily it remains in full force. Every family there still erects its presepio some time from the 1st to the 15th of December. It is not a manger alone, but a whole mountain side, made of the rough, flexible bark of the cork tree. Peaks and crags and precipices abound, with winding trails, houses and castles of colored cardboards, forests of evergreen twigs and sometimes tiny pipes to furnish brooks and lakes.

In the center is the grotto, with the holy family within, surrounded by the cattle. A sky of blue paper is stretched above, with the star of Bethlehem upon it. Over the hills come shepherds bearing gifts to the infant, and, though they are in Sicilian costume and carry good Sicilian cheese and wine upon their donkeys, they are all the more interesting for that.

Sometimes the presepio fills only a corner, sometimes the whole side of a room, according to the means of the family. It is kept year after year until worn out, but it needs to be freshened up each year, always a welcome task to the mother and daughters of the house.

FIRST CHRISTMAS FEAST.

The first feast to be celebrated on Dec. 25 was established by Commodus, emperor of Rome, who reigned about 185 years after the birth of Christ. After that there are many references in history to meetings of the new sect called Christians, who gathered on this day to celebrate the birth of the God-man. It is not until a century after the time of Commodus that we find a particular reference to the persecutions that the Christians underwent at the hands of the pagan emperors, culminating in a Christmas day massacre.

When Rome was no longer a pagan state the feast began to be celebrated in Christian style, and those who observed the birth of Christ in those days did so in widely separated countries and frequently at widely different periods of time and according to no set program. The ancients agreed on one thing, however—that the festival commemorating the birth of Christ should be the most magnificent of the year. In some cases it was kept up for days.

Origin of the Yule Log.

The Yule log in England is a relic of druidism. Its name is believed to be a corruption of the wheel log, a wheel in druidical symbolism typifying the march of the sun. The lighting of the Yule fire is reminiscent of the sacred fires kindled by the druids at midwinter in the round towers which yet remain in many parts of Great Britain, Ireland, France and Spain.

New Berry in Demand

The loganberry, a hybrid of the blackberry and raspberry, is said to make the finest of jellies, jams and pies. Introduced a few years ago in the west, its popularity has been steadily increasing, and the demand now outruns the supply. Western Oregon and Washington are the greatest producers of the new berry.

Birds Voracious Feeders.

As instances of the amount of food some birds consume, the Rev. C. T. Phillips, vicar of Irevell, a well-known Cumberland naturalist, the other day found in the crop of a wood-pigeon he shot 140 beech nuts, whilst another wood-pigeon had devoured more finely-chopped turnip leaves than he could hold in the palm of his hand.

Today.

Today is your day and mine, the only day we have, the day in which we play our part. What our part may signify in the great whole, we may not understand; but this we know—it is a part of action, not of whining of love, not of cynicism. It is for us to express love in terms of human helpfulness.—David Starr Jordan.

That Weak Back

accompanied by pain here or there—extreme nervousness—sleeplessness—may be faint spells—or spasms—all are signals of distress for a woman. She may be growing from girlhood into womanhood—passing from womanhood to motherhood—or later suffering from that change into middle life which leaves so many wrecks of women. At any or all of these periods of a woman's life she should take a tonic and nerve prescriber for just such cases by a physician of vast experience in the diseases of women.

DR. PIERCE'S Favorite Prescription

It successfully treated more cases in past forty years than any other known remedy. It can now be had in sugar-coated, tablet form as well as in the liquid. Sold by medicine dealers or trial box by mail on receipt of 50 cents in stamps.

Miss Elizabeth Lordahl of Berkeley, Cal., in a recent letter to Dr. Pierce said: "I was completely broken down in health, I was aching and had pains all over my body and was so nervous that I could scarcely get to sleep. I had the good fortune to meet a nurse who had been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I have never had an occasion to consult a physician since—am in excellent health."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate stomach, liver and bowels—sugar-coated, tiny granules

The man who whispers down a well
About the things he has to sell
Will never reap a crop of dollars
Like he who climbs a tree and "hollers."

and the congregational singing was uplifting. Morris Long of solos, Sarah Featherstone a piano solo, and there was a trio sung by Elizabeth Long, Tommie and Sarah Featherstone. All of these with the voluntary by Prof. Loving, were greatly en-

HOW TO USE RED CROSS SEALS

Red Cross Seals should, in accordance with order No. 5020 of the Post-office Department, "be affixed to the reverse side of domestic mail matter," and not on the address side of any packages that are going through the mail.
They may be placed anywhere on matter going by express. As many seals may be used on the back of a letter or package as may be desired. Care should be exercised in sending merchandise through the mails not to place seals over the strings with which the package is tied, since this seals the package against inspection and subjects it to first class postage rates.

THIS IS THE SEAL

They are for Sale by The Merchants of Ear-lington.

Red Cross Seals may be used on the reverse side of mail matter sent to Austria, Germany, Great Britain and most of the British Colonies, except India and Australia. Guatemala, Uruguay and Portugal refuse to admit mail bearing non-postage stamps. Certain European countries will return to the sender any mail bearing Red Cross Seals on the address side. Red Cross Seals may be used on the face of checks, on bills, on legal documents and on any commercial paper. These Christmas Seals are not good for postage. They will not carry any mail matter, but any kind of mail matter will carry them.

Croup and Cough Remedy

Croup is a terrible disease. It attacks children so suddenly they are very apt to choke unless given the proper remedy at once. There is nothing better in the world than Dr.
King's New Discovery. Lewis
Chamberlain, of Manchester, Ohio, writes about his children: "Sometimes in severe attacks we were afraid they would die, but since we proved what a certain remedy, Dr.
King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for coughs, croup and colds." So can you. 50c ery home. At all Druggists. H. E.

THE SAME OLD TROUBLE

At Washington they legislate
To make the cost of living low;
They have reduced the tariff rate.
The trusts we hear, will have to go.
But we who pay for food and light,
And clothes and rent;

That we have nothing left, in spite
Of what they do at Washington.
